

The close proximity of the buildings, the houses and outbuildings built of solid wood on stone plinths, as well as the south-facing gables, are distinguishing features of the village.

The Federal Office of Culture (FOC) has classified Sarreyer as a nationally listed village since 1981.